

August 2010 Community Update

Welcome to the August 2010 edition of the CorasWorks Community Update. Are those lazy, hazy, crazy days of Summer really almost over? Where does the time go? It hasn't been hazy or lazy at CorasWorks, but it has been crazy. We've been laser focused in August preparing for the release of our new Project Portfolio Management (PPM) Solution. There are plenty of opportunities below to learn more about PPM v2.0!

Solutions

- PPM v2.0 Microsite - We've updated our website with information on PPM v2.0. Read more about the solution and how some of our customers are using it, take our Screenshot Tour, review the feature set, or request a personalized demo.
- CorasWorks Idea Management v1.2 - We've been busy with PPM, but that doesn't mean we've backed off our CorasWorks Idea Management (Cim) Solution. Just this month, we released v1.2 of the solution, which boasts new and enhanced features such as Idea Dashboard, Idea Management Hub, Custom Reviews, Management Voting, Virtual Workspaces, process integration with external SharePoint sites and apps, and SP2010 Social Networking integration. Visit Idea Management on our website to learn more, take a Screenshot Tour, review the feature set, or request a personalized demo.

Products

- CorasWorks v11 - Earlier this month, we released CorasWorks v11, our new unified solution platform. The v11 release combines all the best and most powerful CorasWorks technologies into a single, integrated solution platform. This means that v11 gives you everything you need to run, modify, and manage any solution or application built with CorasWorks, or by CorasWorks or our application publisher partners. You now have a powerful set of tools that range from easy-to-use, power-user-level components to more complex components used to build robust enterprise-class solutions. Blogs

- PPM v2.0 - Social PPM - Read this blog post that gives some insight into why we decided to add a social element to PPM v2.0.
- New Software Release Model - With the release of CorasWorks v11, we're implementing a brand new release model for our software that closely mirrors the Microsoft model of Major Release, Updates, and Service Packs.
